TRUMAN'S TALK AWAITED ON WORLD AFFAIRS

Expect President To Discuss "Crisis" in Report to Congress Tomorrow.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16 — A troubled congress awaits President Truman's report tomorrow on world conditions amid speculation of stepped-up Russian pressure on non-Communist Europe.

The Chief Executive kept his own counsel. He did not say what caused his sudden decision to address a joint session of the senate and house at 12:30 p. m. on St. Patrick's day.

The White House simply announced that Mr. Truman will discuss the "foreign situation."

There was no advance indication of what — if any — steps he might suggest to cope with what Secretary of State Marshall has called a "great crisis" and a "fateful" hour in world affairs.

Congressional Thinking

But without any hint of what the President has to tell them, lawmakers generally directed their thinking along these lines:

1. There may be new Soviet expansion plans—possibly directed at pushing past Finland toward the Scandinavian countries.

2. These may involve a Russian gesture toward defense pacts with Norway, Sweden and Denmark—the sort of treaty Finland is in the process of being forced to swallow.

3. If any such moves should prove successful, they might help swing the April 18 Italian election to the Communists.

4. After Italy, whatever the outcome there, the Soviets may turn their attention anew to Turkey.

Whether the President would even go into such matters remain unknown.

Events Confirm Thought

But from across the world and at home came some confirmation that events are moving along these lines.

The Swedish defense staff was said in Stockholm dispatches to have King Gustav V for measures to strengthen that country's defenses. The staff stressed "the increased danger of war."

And the state department here served notice on the Italian people they won't get a nickel under the Marshall Plan if that country goes Communist.

Furthermore, some Washington officials saw trouble ahead for Turkey in the word that Moscow is going to fill its long vacant ambassadorship in Ankara. That post has been empty since the Kremlin let up in its campaign of more than a year ago to win a voice in control of the Dardanelles and gain other concessions from Turkey.

However, some quarters regarded the President's talk as likely to be a summing up of world conditions—without any finger-pointing at specific Russian actions.

Western Germany Included in ERP

By The Associated Press

PARIS, March 16—The European recovery conference voted unanimously today to include western Germany in the scope of the Marshall plan.

Portugal's foreign minister, Jose Caeiro Da Mata, proposed before the second and final general session of the conference this afternoon that Generalissimo Franco's Spain be included. He praised Spain as having made a great contribution to European culture and mentioned her "considerable agricultural resources."

"It is not easy to understand how it would be possible to keep a country like Spain for a long time outside our deliberations," Da Mata said. He approved the invitation to German representatives.

The Marshall plan union began taking shape today as delegates wound up preliminary speech-making phases of their conference.

Six of 14 foreign ministers attending the sessions spoke yesterday. The other eight probably will be heard today.

They are the ministers from Belgium, Austria, Eire, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway, Portugal and Sweden.

Out of the mass of data the 14 foreign ministers and two ambassadors seem to have outlined four concrete projects:

▶A plan for a treaty on mutual economic aid and the use to be made of Marshall plan funds.

▶The idea of an organization which, as British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin described it "Cannot and will not cease when the pressure of present needs diminishes."

▶A proposal that Germany be included in the reconstruction effort.

▶A set of reports showing what Europe wants of the Marshall plan, based on American reports of what is available.

Delegates already have discounted the American statement that Italy would get no Marshall plan aid if it goes Communist in next month's election.

They assumed that a Communist-led Italy, like other Communist-led states, would keep out of the plan. Italian Communist leaders have said as much.

Most of the foreign ministers will leave for home tomorrow. The "work group" of officials will stay for weeks, however, to hammer out details of the projected accord.

Move To Enroll Scandinavia

By The United Press

PARIS, March 16—British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin reportedly sought today to draw Scandinavia into a military alliance against communism.

Informed sources said he made the offer in numerous private meetings behind the scenes of the Paris conference.

Morning plenary sessions of the 16-nation European recovery plan conference were put off until afternoon while Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault sought to find new signers for the five-nation, 50-year pact agreed on last week at Brussels.

TAX REPEAL ON OLEO SHELVED

House Committee Votes To Lay Aside All Proposed Legislation.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16—The House Agriculture committee voted 16 to 10 today to shelve all legislation to repeal federal taxes on oleomargarine. Chairman Hope (R-Kans) said: "This kills legislation to repeal these taxes at this session of Congress." What it means is the committee won't send any repeal bills to the floor where House members could vote on them. Some members favoring repeal indicated, however, they will try to get a bill to the floor by a discharge petition. This would require signatures of 218 house members. Whether these signatures can be obtained is doubtful.

The oleo taxes are: On colored oleo at retail, 10 cents a pound; on the uncolored product at retail, one-fourth cent a pound. $600 a year license on manufacturers. $480 a year on colored oleo wholesalers, $200 a year on wholesalers of the uncolored product.

Under the petition method, a repeal bill could be taken from the committee and brought to a house vote. The Capitol Hill battle over the taxes has been in part a butter vs. oleo fight. Dairy interests oppose repeal of the oleo taxes.

Owen Brewster (R-Me) escaped injury yesterday when the plane was forced to land on the Kennebec river near Vassalboro, Me. Climbing out of the plane, which tilted its nose into the snow cover on the ice, Taft and Brewster hiked 250 feet to the bank and plodded a half-mile through knee-deep snow to an inn. Public Meeting To Discuss City Hospital Called March 29

Evidence of the state health department's interest in the development of additional hospital facilities for Marion came today with the announcement by Mayor Harry L. Dowler that the survey on the Marion City hospital situation has been completed, and that state officials were ready to make a report on their findings.

Mayor Dowler received a phone call from C. J. Mosher of the state health department office of hospital facilities yesterday suggesting that a public meeting to air the report be held here March 29.

Accordingly, city officials will go ahead with plans for the meeting at which time findings of the state hospital engineer will be presented to the public with recommendations for a possible course of action.

The meeting in all probability will be held at Central Junior High school, Mayor Dowler said unless that auditorium is already engaged for that evening.

It will be open to the public and will be attended by representatives from civic and professional groups in Marion and Marion county. Results of the survey will be presented by Dr. A. J. Borosky, chief of the office of hospital facilities, A. M. Settles, construction consultant for that office, and Mr. Mosher.

The hospital facilities office acted speedily on the Marion survey, completing it within two weeks despite the heavy pressure of work resulting from action already initiated in other sections of the state on construction plans under the recently inaugurated Ohio plan of hospital development.

It came at the request of Mayor Dowler after recommendation had been made by state and federal hospital authorities that such a survey be made to ascertain what plan of action here would best fit into the federal-state hospital construction program in Ohio.

Results of the investigation are expected to shed light on the big issue facing Marion and Marion county in respect to increasing facilities here—the issue of building an addition to the present hospital or building a new modern hospital.

As Mayor Dowler, the Chamber of Commerce and other civic leaders have stressed repeatedly, the pressing need for action here is a matter for consideration by every resident of the community, not only in the city but in the rural areas served by the hospital. Although maintained by the city, the Marion hospital patient load comprises more than 30 per cent residents from the rural sections of Marion and adjoining counties.

The county commissioners are aware of the need for hospital action here. Chairman Carl Lehner indicated the commissioners were interested in investigating the possibilities of increased facilities.

The hospital question is also slated for discussion Friday night when the Marion county township trustees meet at Pleasant school.

140 Packing Plants in Nation Closed as 100,000 CIO Employes Quit.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 16—Picket lines formed at the nation's meat packing plants today as 100,000 CIO employes were called out on strike despite a last-minute effort by President Truman to settle the wage dispute.

The work stoppage, affecting approximately 140 of the country's major and independent meat plants, is expected to cut in half the nation's meat supply.

The strike became effective at 12:01 a. m. local time, and immediately pickets were posted in several of the cities across the country, including Chicago, where 20,000 workers are involved.

All of the major packers and scores of independent companies were affected by the strike, ordered last night by the 27-man executive committee of the CIO United Packing House Workers of America.

However, about 150,000 other employes in the meat plants were expected to remain at work. They are members of the independent unions and of the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters union which have settled their wage differences with the packers.

"Must Proceed," Says Board

The committee, after receiving Mr. Truman's telegram urging the work stoppage be delayed while a special board of inquiry investigated the dispute, telegraphed the President "the strike must proceed."

"A delay of strike action at this time would obviously serve no fruitful purpose in promoting a solution of this wage issue," the committee told President Truman.

Mr. Truman had asked the union to continue negotiations until the board reported to him on April 1.

As the strike deadline arrived, pickets started their march before the plants—about 78 independent and 62 operated by the major companies, Swift, Armour, Wilson, Cudahy and Morrell. There was no untoward incident in any of the cities from New York to Los Angeles.

Over Half of Coal Miners Now Out

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, March 16—The mushrooming soft coal walkout today appeared likely to engulf most of the industry within the next 24 hours.

Already 210,000 workers, more than half of the nation's soft coal miners, had laid down their tools in support of John L. Lewis' demand for $100 monthly pensions.

All 23,000 members of the United Mine Workers had quit their jobs in Illinois and large quotas had stopped work in 11 other states.

In Washington, U. S. mediation officials were hastily exploring ways to stop the walkout. They were undecided what to do. The strongest possibility seemed that the government would try to mediate as long as there seemed hope of a solution.

Even should President Truman seek another injunction against UMW President Lewis there was some question whether the court could find anything to restrain Lewis' contract, signed by the industry last July 8, provided only that miners should work as long as they were "able and willing."

The Taft-Hartley act provides machinery for keeping vital industries going in a national emergency but it would take some time to get its provision into action.

Meanwhile, the number of miners idle continued to swell.

Gen. Meyers Filing Motion for Bail

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 16—Maj. Gen. Bennett Meyers launched an attempt today to get himself out of jail for a while, at least. The imprisoned officer's lawyers put the finishing touches on a motion asking the U. S. Court of Appeals to free their client on bail pending a hearing on his appeal. They are expected to file the bail motion sometime today. A notice of appeal has been filed.

Meyers was sentenced to 20 months to five years in prison Monday after being found guilty of inducing his former associate, Bleriot Lamarre, to lie to a Senate subcommittee. He spent the first night of the sentence in the District of Columbia jail.

POWER PLANT HAS COAL FOR 60 DAYS

City Hospital Bins Also Reported Full.

Unless the soft coal strike is of serious consequence a reduction in service is not anticipated by the Ohio Public Service Co., according to Harold J. Grigsby, general manager of the Marion division. He pointed to the company policy of keeping a 60-day supply on hand for its six generating plants, and also the interconnected system of power transmission throughout the company network, as preventing an immediate threat to local service.

Marion city hospital's bins are full according to James A. Mautz, hospital administrator. The present supply should last about three weeks at least, he said. The city contracts for coal for the hospital with a local dealer who has been prompt in filling our orders, Mr. Mautz reported. An order for stoker coal was to be filled today.

Red Cross Workers Speed End of Drive

With something more than $6,500 yet to be raised in the annual Marion County Red Cross Fund campaign, workers today are ringing doorbells and contacting prospective contributors in an effort to reach the goal of $25,965 by the next report meeting, Wednesday night.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 o'clock in the chapter office on West Center street. "While the drive is set for the month of March, we are hoping to complete the city and county campaign by Wednesday night's meeting," John W. Watters, campaign chairman said today.

Reported at the last workers' meeting Friday night from the city and county was $19,405.89.

TRUMAN REPORTS ON COST OF LEND-LEASE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16 — President Truman told congress today that lend-lease aid provided to foreign countries since VJ-day amounts to $2,075,459,880.

In a letter transmitting the 25th report on lend-lease operations, Mr. Truman said such postwar help — called "pipeline" aid because the deliveries included good in process of transfer when the war ended — is being concluded.

Russia was cut from the list of "pipeline" countries by congressional action last year. But some other countries remain eligible. The report showed $254,091,000 in shipments to the Soviet Union since the fighting ended.

The total of war and postwar aid under the lend-lease act was reported as $50,243,996,158.79.

The office of lend-lease fiscal operations now operates under the treasury department.

MAN KILLED NEAR DEGRAFF

Parents Read of Son's Death After Return from Florida

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. McKeever of Raymond, Union county, were sadly flying back to Florida today after returning home from Lakeland, Fla., at 6 p. m. last night. A three day search by police and highway patrolmen of seven states failed to find them to tell them of the death of their son Harold McKeever, 35, of Marion who was killed while a spectator at the 100-mile national championship novice motorcycle race at Daytona Beach, Fla., Saturday afternoon.

L. R. McKeever, his wife, and a daughter, Mrs. Norma Rosterfer of Ridgeway were enroute from Lakeland, Fla., their winter home, when the accident, which claimed their son's life, occurred. They had departed from Lakeland early last Friday morning, and as far as can be determined from friends and relatives, had no knowledge that their son and his wife were in Florida. Following the death of Harold McKeever and the serious injury of his wife, efforts were made through all state police and highway patrol authorities of states through which the McKeevers might pass on their trip north, to inform them of the tragedy so they might return to Daytona Beach. All of these efforts failed.

Read of Accident

The stricken parents returned to the family home in Raymond unaware of the tragedy and received the first knowledge of their loss when they read a copy of The Star last night. Upon seeing the front page story of the fatal accident which killed their son and seriously injured their daughter-in-law, Margaret McKeever, 28, of Marion they [illegible] another family of the same name and at 6:30 p. m. yesterday called a relative Mrs. Wilbur Harruff by phone. She was staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Dawson, 257 Oak street, sister and brother-in-law of the younger Mrs. McKeever, during the absence of the Dawsons who left by train for Daytona Beach Sunday night.

The call to confirm that the death reported in The Star was really that of her brother was made by Mrs. Norman Rosterfer of Ridgeway who had accompanied her parents from Florida to the McKeever home in Raymond. Upon receiving confirmation of the death of their son the McKeevers came to the Dawson home at 9:30 p. m. last night. They then decided to leave by plane this morning from Columbus for Daytona Beach to arrange for last rites for their son and be at the bedside of his widow.

Report on Mrs. McKeever

A special Associated Press bulletin to The Star, received from Daytona Beach this morning, reported Mrs. Margaret McKeever as in a "serious but not dangerous condition."

Charles McHale of Denver, Colo., rider of the motorcycle that killed Mr. McKeever was reported in the dispatch as having had "a good night, his foot is fractured, and X-rays of the injury are being studied."

No hospital record of Armin Hostetter, rider of the machine which struck the McHale motorcycle, catapulting it into the crowd, was available. No report was received of the condition of five other persons injured after the machine struck the McKeevers and caved in a portion of the [illegible]

COURT UPHOLDS CIO POLITICAL SPENDING

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16—A district court decision holding invalid the Taft-Hartley act ban on union political spending headed today toward an early supreme court review.

The justice department said it will appeal directly to the high tribunal "as promptly as possible."

Labor union attorneys saw a chance for a final ruling before the supreme court's summer recess in June. Confident the lower court will be upheld, they said they hope the decision will come in time for unions to go ahead with 1948 campaign plans.

In his decision yesterday Federal Judge Ben Moore dismissed an indictment brought under the spending ban against the CIO and its president, Philip Murray.

Murray had violated the ban deliberately to provide a quick court test. He published a signed endorsement in the union-financed CIO News last July 14 for Edward Garmatz, Democratic congressional candidate from Baltimore. It was published the day before Garmatz was elected, with copies distributed in Baltimore.

Moore said the spending ban violates the freedoms of speech, press and assembly and thus is unconstitutional.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), co-author of the act, said at Portland, Me., where he is campaigning for the GOP presidential nomination: "I don't see how he can make a general finding of this kind."

Taft deferred further comment. Rep. Hartley (R-NJ), whose name the law also bears, was not available for immediate reaction.

TAXPAYERS LINE UP TO BEAT DEADLINE

Rush at Office Here Continues to Closing Time.

A steady stream of taxpayers from early morning until the clocks chimed the hour of 5 p. m. yesterday chalked up what is probably the heaviest income tax filing period in the history of the local office of internal revenue.

Approximately 15 or 20 "early birds" were in line when the office opened at 7:45 a. m. yesterday and the lineup was continuous until closing time. As 5 p. m. drew near several persons left the line, apparently deciding to fill out and mail their own forms. When closing time arrived there were around 30 persons yet to be interviewed.

Friday's business was nearly as heavy as yesterday, due to the office being closed on Saturday, John Sells, deputy collector in charge of the local office, stated.

The same situation prevailed throughout the state, an Associated Press dispatch from Columbus reported today.

Mailed returns had to be postmarked by midnight last night. The postman was still bringing in stacks of them today to the Columbus tax office.

Collectors around the state said the last-day filing was the heaviest since 1944. Harry E. Busey, collector at Columbus, attributed the rush to the fact the deadline came after a Sunday.

At Cleveland, Collector Thomas M. Carey estimated total payments of about $180,000,000 from Jan. 1. He figured 150,000 returns were delivered at the Cleveland office yesterday.

E. C. Weinemuth, chief deputy collector at Cincinnati, estimated total payments there since Jan. 1 at $66,661,447. No estimates were available for the Toledo and Columbus districts.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

THE expression on Georges face as he looked at me roused the lodgering pity which one gives to a person of quite evident to have one leg to explain things to a horde of one syllable

"If I am my theory were ridiculous or 'cock-eyed,'" he said, "three people would be much happier, Mary, Olina and myself. As for Noel, he does not matter. He is a negligible quantity"

I told myself with inward glee that Noe might sometime show him what his "negligible quantity" could do to blackening the eyes of playboys even. I filed that for future reference in the mental cabinet, and went back to my question

I said, "You have not yet told me on what you base your belief, and I must remind you that time is of the essence'"

"On many little things before I last parted from Mary," he said, "intangable things. Then at our farewell, her anger at my attempted kiss stemmed I could see from a mingling of two emotions a feeling of wrong-doing because of her husband, and an intense longing for the caress which she had to frustrate. And her refusal to answer my letters, is due, I am sure, to that same mingling of contradictory emotions

"And, don't you see where that puts me?" he asked, and though his tones were theatrical, there was a certain anguished certainty in his voice that made me scrutinize him closely. Yes, I told myself, this addle-pated egoist, really believed what he was saying, and was actually suffering because of his belief, although he could not resist the temptation to dramatize it

"I cannot let Mary down," he said, "not only because she once was my adored liege lady, but because I feel that she never would have had this nervous breakdown, entailing her long absence from the stage, and her sojourn at the sanitarium had she not been so torn between her feeling for me, and her sense of duty to her husband. Is it not the irony of fate that now, when her love is mine, I can feel only the depths of sorrow for the loss of Olina, whom I now love, and a deep sense of guilt for the wrong I am doing her. She has promised to marry me, and I must give her back her promise"

This was getting a bit too thick, I told myself with an English Channel ship-canal sensation beginning to steal over me. I leaned forward in my chair and looked at the royal egoist steadily

"Have you quite finished?" I asked. "Have you listed all your reasons for believing Mary is in love with you, and not with her husband'"

"Aren't those reasons enough?" he countered

"Not in a million years,' I told him emphatically, and I saw him start and look keenly at me

"Now I dont want you to interrupt me," I said, using the tone that I would employ to a backward pupil to whom I was explaining something

This time my glance at my wrist watch was ostentatious

"I shall make it short and sad," I said, "but I want to get over a few truths to you

"In the first place," I went on, "I am sorry to Mary, for you are one else I have ever met, and her affairs my business. She always has come to me with every problem from the first day she came into my care as a little girl. I was the first to know of your youthful love story, a beautiful dream the memory of which is all right for you both to cherish, and I also was the first to know when she and Noel realized that they loved each other. I told you and Olina. It was about that time that you and Olina made the same discovery, that you were meant for each other. It is my opinion that any swerving back to Mary on your part since that time has been only sentimental egotistical nonsense"

I stopped, literally for breath, but my hand shot upward with the palm toward him as he opened his lips for speech

"No interruptions please," I said sharply, and went swiftly on

"Now I'm going to tell you a few plain truths. They may humiliate you, but they will be good for your soul. First, Mary did not go to that sanitarium because of a nervous breakdown, but because, after a terrible siege of pneumonia, her physician feared serious lung trouble, and ordered her to a western sanitarium. The hospital authorities foolishly forbade her family to visit her, and the separation, coupled with the fear that she was losing her memory, brought on the nervous breakdown from which she only just now has recovered"

Sparks from Chimney Cause Green Camp Fire

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP, March 16—Sparks from a defective chimney are thought to have started a roof fire at the Mrs. Edith O. Welch home about 11 a. m. Monday. Most of the roof was burned. Volunteer firemen and neighbors carried all the furniture from the house. Difficulty was experienced in getting a stream of water through the recently rebuilt fire engine. Damage was not estimated. Water damage to the walls of the rooms will be extensive. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Guild Starts Rehearsal For One-Act Play

First rehearsal of the one-act play, 'What Became of Kate?' being presented by a group of members of the Marion Theatre Guild was held Monday night in the Republican headquarters. Bob Slatzer, author of the play, also is directing the production, with Miss Ruth Vail as assistant director.

Various phases of the play were rehearsed and Robert Wallace was chosen to replace Robert Spanable as Jerry Craig in the cast. The next meeting of the cast will be Thursday at 7 p. m. in the varsity room at the Y. M. C. A. All members of the cast are to know their lines at that time. The play is to be presented before Guild members next week.

SKEPTICAL ABOUT DOLLARS

UPPER SANDUSKY, March 16—Larry C. Ingabe, Upper Sandusky auto accessory store owner, found most customers rather skeptical of his offer of a new $1 bill for 95 cents during a special sale last week. The new bills were obtained at a nearby bank and offered by Mr. Ingabe to call attention to his special prices for the week, but many people required very solemn assurance that the dollars were good before buying them at the advertised discount. Others flatly refused to purchase because they were sure there must be a hidden catch in the offer.

It's Being Done at Willow Run!

Kaiser-Frazer Introduces Four New 1948 Models

- The 1948 KAISER
- The 1948 FRAZER
- The 1948 KAISER CUSTOM
- The 1948 FRAZER MANHATTAN

AT NO INCREASE IN PRICE!

While Other New Car Prices Are Advancing

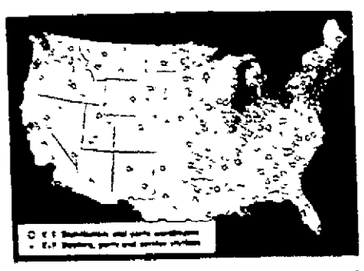
HERE'S WHY Kaiser-Frazer can make this announcement while other new car prices spiral upward. Kaiser-Frazer controls its own supply of many basic raw materials . . . has its own engine plant, foundry and steel mill. Materials from these sources funnel into new and modern Willow Run—the largest automobile manufacturing plant in the world under one roof.

Unfinished steel goes in one end of this great plant and comes out a quality automobile, ready to be driven away. All this is accomplished in a matter of hours, and with the economy of Kaiser-Frazer straight-line production. This is an achievement of men who are injecting new methods and ideas into an old industry.

In the new 1948 Kaiser, Frazer, Kaiser Custom, and Frazer Manhattan you get all the features that others have attempted to copy since Kaiser-Frazer design was introduced in 1947.

So far no one has been able to more than approximate the graceful exterior body lines. No one has come near matching the roadability . . . the ride resulting from seats cradled between the front and rear wheels, such wide seats with both elbow and shoulder room. And none have the style features, the wide choice of colors and fabrics.

You get all this plus the many refinements made possible by years-ahead engineering and design. And, of course, all 1948 Kaiser or Frazer cars have the new Goodyear 24-pound pressure Super-Cushion tires that make bumps something you see but never feel.



Wherever you drive, wherever you go, 'round the corner, down the street, there is a Kaiser-Frazer dealer ready to serve you with genuine factory parts and approved service.

Enjoy a ride today in America's newest new cars—the 1948 cars that have not gone up in price!

We Invite You to SEE, DRIVE and COMPARE Them. Today!

Roving Reports

FT BRAGG N C.

If America went to war tomorrow what veteran outfits does it have ready to throw a punch?

Well, there aren't many One of the best is the famous 82nd airborne division now back in training here at the cradle of the airborne force

This "All American" paratroop and glider unit represented the Army in the 1946 Victory parade in New York City and claims more battle decorations than any other U S division in the Second World war

Hal Boyle

It was an Infantry outfit in the First World war and suffered 6,000 casualties in the Meuse - Argonne offensive alone It had in its ranks such soldiers as a major called 'Skinny' Wainwright and a Tennessee sergeant named Alvin York

General Omar Nelson Bradley, now Army chief of staff, commanded the 82nd before it sprouted wings as the first full-fledged U S airborne division

Its men "first" hit the silk" in combat when they parachuted down in Sicily in July 1943, and the Germans immediately formed a grudging respect for "those devils in baggy pants"

In its next jump the 82nd was called on to help save the imperilled Fifth army Beachhead at Salerno The "all Americans" leaped again to spearhead the Normandy invasion, and were later rushed up to bolster the First army during the critical Battle of the Bulge They made their final jump in Holland during Field Marshall Montgomery's fruitless dash for the north German plain.

THE SWAGGERING 82nd paratroopers ended the war with a record of having successfully completed every major mission assigned them

But how "veteran" is this famous veteran fighting division today? How many punches could it throw?

Certainly it is nowhere near its wartime fighting peak. Most of the old men are gone. There are only 150 combat men left who saw service overseas—and an airborne division numbers about 17 000 men at full strength

Like the few other American divisions still activated, the 82nd has the job now of training thousands of youngsters And it is busy also testing new equipment and studying fresh techniques of warfare.

One innovation has been the incorporation of an all-Negro battalion in the division With the exception of the battalion commander and his executive all officers are Negro

This battalion is one of the snappiest on the post, and division officers are enthusiastic over its performance in training.

"THE TROOPERS get along very well together, one officer said We haven't had a single case of a fight between a white and Negro paratrooper"

There has been no duff on to selling high caliber recruits for the Negro unit One attraction is the pay differential for paratroopers. Enlisted men get $50 and officers $100 extra a month for jump duty

Army promotions have recently removed many wartime leaders from the 82nd including Maj Gen Matthew Jan Gavin, its commander

Another was Lt Col Robert F Wienecke its chief of staff in Holland who directed "exercise snowdrops" at Pine Camp, N Y, this winte.

"I hate to leave the division" said Wienecke a former Northwestern football captain and Chicago insurance executive "We all do"

The 82nd has always been that kind of an outfit.

The Colorado river has built up its delta so fast that it has periodically choked its outlet to the Gulf of California

True stories about living men and women are found in "The Precious Secret," a volume intended as an antidote to selfishness, intolerance and hate; Edgar J Goodspeed tells the story of Paul. NAVY STREAMLINES SYSTEM OF RATINGS

Number Reduced from 198 to 77 in 12 Divisions.

The United States Navy recently streamlined its system of ranking enlisted men and is instituting a general system, effective April 2, which will merge 198 present ratings into 77 general service rates under 12 general categories, according to information received today by Carl T. Prusnek, chief motor machinist's mate, local recruiting officer with the substation located in the sheriff's office in the courthouse.

Under the new system, the ship's cook becomes a commissaryman, the carpenter's mate and painter become damage controlmen, buglers become seamen, signalmen become quartermasters, and watertenders become boilermen. The rating of coxswains used in 1779, will be permanently replaced by the rating of boatswain's mate, third class.

The order also standardizes rate abbreviations which used to range from BMCBB.2 (Boatswain's Mate, Construction Battalion, Boatswain Second Class) to S/2 (Seaman, Second Class.) In the future all rate abbreviations will be composed of only two initials, with the suffix "C" for a chief petty officer, or numerals designating other grades of petty officers.

The new ratings will simplify administrative problems, the Navy announced, and permit rapid advancement in time of an emergency The 12 rating groups are: deck, ordnance, electronics, precision equipment, administrative and clerical, miscellaneous, engineering and hull, construction, aviation, medical, dental and steward. The changes affect only regular Navy personnel and volunteer reservists on active duty status. All other naval reservists retain emergency service ratings Four further information regarding regular Navy contact your local Navy recruiter situated in the courthouse, open daily.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients

Three other sons of Beecher Walter who were employed at the Shovel until recently are Beecher Jr., and Gerald, of Marion, and Otho of Delaware.

Were Star Carriers

These eight Walter brothers, as schoolboys and young men made a record as carriers for The Star, carrying a large area including North Main and North State street extensions and adjacent streets over a period of more than 20 years.

Three more relatives of the Walter family of the many who have worked for the Shovel over the years are also employed there now. They are Homer C. Walter and Raymond A. Walter, brothers of Beecher Walter, and Willis H. "Bill" Walter, cousin of the Walter brothers. Willis Walter is the son of the late Jacob Walter, who was a shovel operator for many years. Another cousin of the Walter brothers, formerly employed at the Shovel but now working away from this town is Hugh A. Walter Jr. His father is now retired from Shovel work.

Given a prominent place in this issue of "The Scoop" is an account of the annual dinner meeting held by the company's 25-Year Club when the club welcomed into its membership 33 Shovel Co. employes, making the total membership 230. The story appears on the front page and a large part of the magazine is given over to the account of the meeting along with pictures taken at the banquet of the group and the various company officials.

Another feature article in the issue tells of little Miss Ruth Ellen Jones, who was selected recently to become a member of the Juvenile Recital club of Marion. She is nine, the youngest of three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Jones of 877 Davids street. Her father is a Shovel plant foreman. Little Miss Jones is pictured in the magazine, and shown with her is her accompanist, Marlene Graham, 13, of 849 Davids street.

An announcement in the issue informs all employes that the 1948 vacation period for all company employes, during which the plant and offices will be shut down, will start at the end of the third shift, Friday, July 2. The plant will reopen Monday morning, July 12.

Subject of the personality sketch in this March issue is Joseph Clayton Johnson, who has been with the Shovel nearly 23 years and is now night plant superintendent in charge of the third shift. He is president of the Marion Power Shovel Company Foremen's club. He resides at 665 East Church street. His picture is included with the sketch.

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATION

CHRIST in You, ✝ THE HOPE of Glory

TOWARD JERUSALEM

Luke 9:51: "He steadfastly set His face to go to Jerusalem."

THERE is a certain peculiar brilliance which emanates from the life that has found a purpose for being, and who, regardless of cost determines that the purpose shall be accomplished. At least a part of the attractiveness of Christ as Savior arises from His determination to fulfill the mission of His coming. To go to Jerusalem He knew meant suffering, sorrow and death, but it also meant salvation and life eternal for all who would receive Him. This was the purpose in His coming.

It was this "Farther Look" at the completed plan beyond the pain and agony that drew Him into the glorious tragedy of His Passion. To achieve it He would not be moved; He would go to Jerusalem.

The determination to fulfill God's will should characterize all Christians. The Jerusalem toward which we go will surely mean self-denial and sacrifice and suffering, but it all becomes bearable, yea a glorious experience when the "Farther Look" by faith reveals the accomplished plan of God.

PM Newsmen Refuse Buyer's Work Terms

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 16—Union workers in the editorial and business departments of the newspaper PM declined last night to approve a prospective buyer's work terms, and owner Marshall Field III said they had jeopardized what seems to be the paper's "last chance."

Field disclosed Friday he had sold the eight-year-old tabloid to Clinton D. McKinnon, California publisher, contingent on acceptance by the PM unit of the CIO American Newspaper Guild of McKinnon's work terms. In any event, Field said, he would withdraw as publisher on March 26.

Unwilling Miners

THE CATCH in the current working agreement between United Mine Workers and coal operators is the provision that members of the union must be "able and willing" to work. This proviso replaced the former no-strike clause and was put into the contract to keep the union from being sued under the Taft-Hartley act, in the event of wildcat strikes.

When the agreement was made last July it was predicted by many that the "able and willing" clause would be used by John L. Lewis, president of UMW, to close down the mines whenever he wanted a work stoppage. That time has come. Mr. Lewis has let it be known that miners belonging to his union will be in order if they stay away from work, presumably to discuss the pension issue in the current contract. A strike is in progress, but under another name.

At previous times miners have stayed away from work because they had no contract, because they were on a holiday, or because they were commemorating a special occasion. In recent years there never has been a strike of miners; there have been only stoppages of work while Mr. Lewis negotiated with the operators or with representatives of the government—or waited for a coal shortage to develop, to keep up the price of coal.

The effect, of course, is the same, whether the stoppage of coal production is called a strike or something else. President Truman has said that he will not tolerate a tie-up in the coal mines this year. It now remains to be seen what he will and can do about the tie-up occurring under the terms of the contract made last July, to run until July 1, 1948. Mr. Lewis is still at his old game of stopping coal production whenever he wants it stopped, making the end justify the means. Because he controls the labor supply in the coal industry he is still the economic dictator of the United States.

Incident in Georgia

IN SCHLEY county, Georgia, a Negro mother and her two sons, 14 and 16, are under death sentence on a charge of having killed a white man. The death grew out of a dispute over a mule straying into a cornfield.

From this distance it is difficult to ascertain all the facts. It may be equally difficult in Schley county, for the only white witnesses since died and all the Negro witnesses belong to the defendants' family. There is a question, however, as to whether the all-white jury could have arrived at a just verdict by devoting only one court session to hearing all the evidence.

The case, now bieng appealed, deserves the most careful review. It is the kind of incident upon which Communists thrive. Having full access of information and freedom of speech—both unknown in Russia—they use such incidents to portray democracy's shortcomings and convince their gullible followers that only Communists have a sincere concern for the underdog.

State Department Re-Organization

BY CUTTING $17,000,000 from state department funds, the house appropriations committee serves notice, with accompanying remarks and recommendations, that the department must be overhauled.

The state department has become a cumbersome, complex organization with more than 20,000 employes. Some of its blunder in policy and method are traceable to its unwieldy organization, red tape and nebulous areas of responsibility.

One of the reasons the state department has expanded like a yeast spore in a damp cellar was that recent secretaries of state were so occupied with global problems that they had no time to devote to reorganization. Neither Cordell Hull nor James F. Byrnes had much talent as organizers, being primarily legislators, but their successor, Secretary Marshall, has a reputation as one who can formulate and control lines of authority. While he is occupied with world problems, he should delegate the responsibility of reorganization to a trustworthy subordinate. By substantially cutting the department's appropriation, the house makes some such a step mandatory.

On the Road to Ratification

THE proposed constitutional amendment to limit presidents to two terms is past the half-way mark in ratification procedure, with New York the latest state to ratify, only 17 more approvals are required to make it the law of the land.

Chances for approval have grown as the state of Franklin D. Roosevelt's health during his third term and the undoubted part it played in our diplomatic fiascos at Yalta and Teheran, become known.

Sentiment also is changing in the South, where the amendment was first regarded as a slur on Mr. Roosevelt's memory. Nowadays southern politicians are less concerned about Mr. Roosevelt's memory and more about presidents with a faculty for needling the South.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Plain Americanism Easy To Understand.

BEFORE 1932, the United States was populated by Americans with a few aliens here and there. Since then, it would appear that the United States is populated by minorities. How these minorities came into existence after 1932 would make an interesting tudy in political machinations, for it was definitely done to get votes. In fact, Mr. Roosevelt kept an anonymous secretary in the White House, David Niles, once surnamed Neyhus, for that specific purpose.

SOKOLSKY

It used to be that every person native to this country, whatever his parentage, regarded himself as having undivided loyalty and allegiance to it. Now he is being given another and a superior allegiance, namely, to a minority. And as a member of a minority, he is expected to vote as his minority votes. And each minority supports heavily-financed minority leaders who not only go about arranging how the minority is to vote on election day but often arranging something good for themselves. It has become a business.

The "National Educational Association Journal" published "Promising Practices in Intergroup Education," which they apparently received from the National Conference of Christians and Jews and which was developed by Leo Shapiro, of the Anti-Defamation League, and Benjamin Goldenberg, of the Bureau for Intercultural Education. The idea seems to be that these minorities ought to like each other better, which they used to do anyhow before they were split up into minorities.

Get-Together Formula

There are apparently 11 ways to accomplish this get-together:

"1. The contributions approach—(A) 'Great men,' outstanding members of minority groups; (B) Folk contributions, ethnic or religious customs.

"2. The people-are-alike approach—Emphasizes the basic characteristics common to all men, that difference as such does not constitute inferiority.

"3. The study-of-prejudice approach—Investigate the reasons for stereotyped thinking and the effects of prejudice and discrimination on personality and social structure.

"4. The precept approach—Investigates what 'the American way of life' really means; analyzes democratic ideals.

"5. The Democratic - procedures approach—Affords practice in democratic living through classroom routines and student government.

"6. The ideals-vs.-practice approach—The American dilemma, what America stands for contrasted with actual practices.

"7. The vicarious-experiences approach,— Attacks stereotyped thinking through use of books and dramatics.

"8. The school-activities approach—Attempts to inculcate cooperation and mutual respect in all aspects of school life for all the children.

"9. The guidance approach—Aims to make children feel secure in school relationships.

"10 The personal contacts approach—Fosters pleasant experiences with members of other groups.

"11. The community-participation approach—Use of the community as a resource and relation of the school to the community."

Something Overlooked

This is great stuff, but not a word is said about the United States of America and how to be an American. Back in the days when I was young, this country was supposed to be a melting pot, into which were poured all kinds of human beings, of all creeds, colors, nationalities, and they were fused into something called an American. It seemed to work very well back in those days, but then 1932 came along, and the fire went out under the melting pot.

So many remained only partly melted, and they call themselves minorities and need 11 approaches in order to get along.

That first approach is a very exciting one. Don't tell the kids about George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson or Abraham Lincoln. Tell them about some bloke nobody ever heard about. It says in the stuff the "NEA Journal" published that such an approach "encourages individual in identification with his minority group." The object is to keep the minority group going in this country forever.

On the other hand, the same piece says that much of "the information" on the above subject is "false, stereotyped or outdated. May overemphasize differences." So there is disagreement on how to keep the minorities alive.

Just Plain Talk

Seems to me the best way would be to eliminate this minorities business in this country. Tell the kids that they are all Americans. Teach them to love their country, to honor its Flag, to uphold its constitution. Teach them American history and civics without social science trimmings. All this minority talk is bad for America — even if it does give some minority specialists lucrative jobs.

Mystery of the Condon Case

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

THE gross incompetence of the handling of the so-called Condon case by the Committee on un-American Activity (which has led the New York Herald Tribune correctly to describe the committee's chairman as "our society's greatest single gift to Communist infiltration") has already attracted much attention. Yet another aspect of the case, in its way at least as serious, has been almost entirely overlooked. That is the mystery which surrounds the publication by the Thomas committee of part of the famous letter from the federal bureau of investigation to the department of commerce on the subject of Dr. Edward U. Condon's alleged shortcomings. The mystery is simply this: How did Representative J. Parnell Thomas's sleuths get their version of the FBI letter?

Robert Stripling, chief investigator for the Thomas committee, refuses to answer this question. But it is quite obvious, as Mr. Stripling agrees, that the Thomas version of the FBI letter could only have come from the confidential files of either the FBI or of the commerce department. On that point, spokesmen for both the FBI and the commerce department also agree. Yet—and here is the mystery—the commerce department officially and heatedly denies that it is responsible for divulging part of the contents of the famous letter to the Thomas investigators. And so does the FBI. The spokesman for the FBI states that it is illegal for the FBI to divulge such information, unless publicly ordered to do so by the attorney general. And the commerce department asserts further that the Thomas committee has demanded the letter on several occasions in the past, and was each time refused.

The implications are perfectly obvious. Since the FBI or the commerce department were the only possible sources for the letter, one or the other, in disclaiming responsibility, is mistaken. The error is no doubt unconscious. The version of the FBI letter made public by the Thomas committee is incomplete. And it varies in a number of particulars from the original letter. This indicates that a Thomas committee sleuth was allowed to read a part of the letter hastily, or it was read to him, and his notes were inaccurate. At any rate, assuming that both the FBI and commerce disclaimers are perfectly sincere, this must mean that some person with access to the confidential files of either organization has divulged part of the contents illegally and without official sanction to a Thomas committee investigator.

Moreover, presumably Representative Thomas or Robert Stripling knows who the person who has acted thus illegally is. He would seem a far fitter object for congressional attention than Dr. Condon; or than Hamilton Robinson, the state department's leading Republican, who has been hauled up for a congressional grilling on the grounds that he has a second cousin who may have Leftist tendencies.

Evidence of Spying

There is an element of fantasy in the whole situation. For it does not only mean that the measures taken to protect confidential material in either the commerce department or the FBI are ludicrously inadequate. It also means that the legislative branch of the government is now engaged in spying on the executive branch, even to the extent of obtaining secret information through underground methods.

There have been, moreover, other parallel episodes. Representative Clare Hoffman of Michigan discovered recently that his name was listed in a confidential lead file of the civil service commission, and made a tremendous row about it. Hoffman had, of course, no direct access to the files. However, certain investigative agencies including the FBI and the Army security branch did have such direct access, a practice now ended. Again, this summer 10 state department employes were discharged, some of them certainly unjustly, as potentially disloyal. Some person gave their names to the press, thus compromising their reputations and perhaps ruining their careers. Only the state department, the civil service commission and the FBI had access to these names.

These episodes lead to the conclusion that individuals in the executive branch, with access to confidential files closely affecting the reputations of government employes, are using this information either to curry favor with men like Hoffman and Thomas or for other reasons. It is almost impossible to exaggerate the seriousness of this sort of thing. It is already difficult to persuade competent men to risk their reputation in government. Since the Condon affair, some government scientists, desperately needed in the national interest, are now talking seriously of resigning.

THE Russians always know well in advance what we think we might have to do, whether we are going to do it, how and when and if we shall in fact do it. It is a great advantage to have your opponent telegraph all his punches.

The Russians have had nearly a full year's notice to prepare their reaction to the Marshall plan. They have had plenty of time to realize that as the plan took shape, it would not only tend to unite western Europe but that it would exercise a powerful attraction upon eastern Europe—particularly upon Czechslovakia, in considerable measure upon Poland, and to some degree also on Yugoslavia.

LIPPMANN

Although the Soviet government has expressed the utmost hostility to the European Recovery Program, their own plan of action against it is only now being disclosed. We have assumed that they were relying on strikes and political disorder to frusirate the recovery which the Marshal plan was designed to promote. But it is now reasonably clear that they made a more serious estimate of the power of the Marshall plan, that they realized it would be adopted, that as it was being adopted it would tend to consolidate a large part of Europe against them, and that they would in the end be confronted with disaffection in eastern Europe and an ever-increasing pressure to withdraw from Europe.

Some time last summer they appear to have reached the decision that they could forestall their impending defeat in Europe by resorting to military measures—of which the seizure of Czechoslovakia and the military absorption of Finland are the first two installments.

This may explain what has hitherto been so difficult to understand — namely, Vishinsky's unbridled speech at the United Nations assembly attacking this country, and also Britain and France, as aggressive warmongering nations. If we assume that the decision had already been reached in Moscow that the conflict was to enter a military phase, then Vishinsky's speech is intelligible. It created the climate in eastern Europe for the military measures which have since been taken, first in Romania and Hungary, and then in Czechoslovakia and Finland. For non-Communists could then be treated as traitors and enemies, as agents of the western powers.

If this interpretation is correct, Vishinsky's speech was not mere propaganda — though incidentally it was that also—addressed to the masses of the people of Europe, but a carefully considered step to prepare the ground for the military developments which are now taking place.

Soviet Military Action

It is almost certainly necessary then to revise the assumption—which has been widely held by the military authorities here and in western Europe—that because the Soviet Union does not yet have the atomic bomb and the more modern engines of war, the Russians would take no military action until they had made up their tactical inferiority. It is now rather plain that, on the contrary, they decided to take military action in order to neutralize our tactical superiority in weapons and to make full use of their own tactical superiority in ground forces.

They are doing this by seizing the positions—like Czechoslovakia and Finland and later on, if they can, Turkey, the Balkans and Italy—which enable them to dominate with their troops the areas which we should need in order to use our superior weapons to gain a military decision. Their answer, then, to the atomic bomb and our strategical air and sea power is to take possession of the places from which we can employ them effectively—and from these places to use their army to divide and paralyze the coalition of western Europe.

This is a modern version of the classic Russian military policy—which is to defeat the superior striking power of an opponent by compelling him to operate over impossibly long, costly, and insecure lines of supply. Their method is to counteract tactics by logistics. Against the French in 1912 and the Germans in 1941 they did this by retreating into the depths of Russia.

As against the western powers today they hope to achieve a similar result by pushing their military frontiers so far forward that Russia is invulnerable and all of Europe is at its mercy.

How To Stop It

This well conceived and carefully prepared military plan cannot be thwarted if this country remains on a peace footing—with an immense potential military power but with comparatively small actual military power. The time the country would need to train, equip, mobilize, deploy and establish effective fighting power will be used by the Russians to take possession of the military positions which are essential to the effective use of our fighting power.

The situation calls for an immediate American mobilization—the restoration of selective service, the reestablishment of the war powers over industry, the restoration of lend-lease, and the declaration of a state of national emergency. For the critical fact is that by actions at strategic points with Czechoslovakia and Finland, Russian military power is increasing rapidly as compared with that of the United States and the western countries. These military actions are possible because the Russians are in effect already mobilized. A totalitarian state possesses all the war powers all the time. The Russians do not have to argue about universal military training and conscription: they already have them.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, March 16, 1938.

European and New York security markets broke sharply in midst of pessimistic reactions to the war fears abroad. Prices of leading issues on the New York Stock exchange were down $1 to $5 at midday in the heaviest selling volume in some weeks.

Firemen were called from the West Side station to the home of W. D. Jenner on Bennett street when neighbors saw reflections through the window of a fire being built in the stove and believed the house to be on fire.

The mysterious "sack bandit" scourge of north central Ohio filling stations and a puzzle to authorities, robbed the Sohio filling station at the corner of Main and Columbia streets and fired a sawed-off shotgun twice in departing, "to give you something to remember me by."

Officers headed by Mrs. Guy Stoner as president were elected at a meeting of the J 'Amene Sunshine club at the home of Mrs. O. A. Ralston of Pleasant Acres.

Dr. E. C. Sherman of Cardington was elected president of the Marion Chapter of the Pan American Medical association at a meeting held at Hotel Harding. Dr. J. G. McNamara was elected vice president, Dr. C. G. Smith, secretary, and Dr. E. L. Brady, treasurer.

Ninety-five of approximately 175 Marion city properties offered at the county's forfeited land sale continued into its third day in the basement of the courthouse, were sold for approximately $950.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, March 16, 1928.

As the latest development in a controversy between the city of Marion and Marion county over rates charged for city prisoners in the county jail, which the city claimed were too high, it was reported prisoners might be sent to Delaware county.

Grant F. Davis, advertising manager for the Marion Steam Shovel Co., resigned to become sales manager of the Ohio Power Shovel Co. at Lima.

Marion's last hopes for winning the state basketball tournament at Columbus vanished when the Isaly Dairies were defeated by Hebron, 31 to 27. Tschanen led in the scoring for Marion, pitching five field goals.

Included among prices on the Marion market were: new potatoes, three pounds for 25 cents; strawberries, 35 cents a quart; grapefruit, 15 cents each; smoked ham, 18 cents a pound; boiled ham, 45 cents; dressed chickens, 33 cents; wheat, $1.43; oats, 60 cents.

Lenox Reber, widely-known Marion county farmer, died at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cass, north of Marion. He was 86.

Members of the Arbor Vitae club and their families held a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Fox on St. James street, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. George Deal and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Dilsaver.

Dr. and Mrs. Fillmore Young of St. James street returned after a three-month stay in Los Angeles.

The Central Christian basketball team won the championship in the county Sunday school league by defeating Epworth 35 to 30. In the winning team's lineup were Geissler, who pitched eight field goals, Harrod, Rinnert, Rank, Amick, Fairchild and Yazel.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Letters for Special Delivery

DEAR UNCLE SAM:

This is a follow up to my recent letter as if you didn't think it time you snapped out that self-destructive trance in the drug-store window and started acting as if you were up to the fact the Kremlin workers for your foundation are just about the most efficient, wide-awake, high-powered 24-hours-a-day shift organization in the land. Is a democracy a suicide club? Is it a system of government where stupidity has a top priority, where heavy sleeping is compulsory and where you have to lean so far over backwards in protecting yourself from low punches that you look like a guy over an invisible barrel?

PHILLIPS

The Bill of Rights and all the guarantees of freedom are swell, but must they be used by organized enemies to fan themselves when perspiring from the exertions of trying to do you dirt?

You know, of course, that a great, specially trained army of foreign-born spies are crawling all over the joint, aided and abetted by countless traitors, dupes and fellow travelers, all working around the clock to take you apart and reassemble you for a part in the chorus in the big Volga Boatmen number. And I hope you realize that the German Bund over which you got so excited was a small time chowder club in comparison.

Have you got to go on acting like a sleep-walker caught in mid-traffic? Must you continue to present the spectacle of a combination of the oldest living Elk, the winner of a Most Amnesia Contest and the dustiest figure in the waxworks?

* * *

Please, Uncle Sam, woncha wake up and stop acting like you knew what to do when being doublecrossed, under-estimated, over-jostled, shoved around, spat upon and taken for a ride by the deadliest crew that ever scuttled a ship. A cold war? Listen, mister, only a poor judge of temperatures could call it that. It is a red-hot sweltering, scorching war, and it is being waged right under your schnozzle.

Sure, the people are asleep at the switch. Sure, they are hard to arouse. Yeah, I know 85 per cent of all Americans are so busy playing pinball machines, writing limericks for radio prizes, applauding the wrong people in newsreels and trying to get a new sedan that the 15 per cent hard at work to Sovietize America are having it easy. But can't sumpin' be done to stir 'em up? Wouldn't it be a big help if you rolled up your sleeves, set your teeth and swung into action?

What this country needs is a few people PARADING FOR THE GLORIOUS U.S.A. NOT AGAINST IT.

What we need, too, are demonstrations in every town and city for the preservation of America, and in 'em there should be the spirit of the old-time Fourth of July meetings, with the brass bands playing "Yankee Doodle" and the eyes of the people lighted up with gratitude for the great blessing of living in the greatest country on earth.

* * *

Americans are good joiners and good organizers. Once aroused they are tough babies and nobody's fools. How about a national campaign to get them as hard-working, alert and vigorous in preserving the country as the Moscow agents are for feeding it to the crows? I'm just asking.

Yours still wondering,

ELMER

Dear Nephew: As I take my pen in hand to write this letter, I am not mad at anyone but probably can lash up a peeve before I get through. I have noticed that unless people whose stuff appears in newspapers are mad at somebody they don't get far. They are in the ho-hum department.

Come to think of it, I am mad at something. Gitt.

I am mad because there are more than 34,000,000 automobiles in the United States being driven by people who do not have any more idea than a jackrabbit how to back them out without running off my driveway and ruining my lawn. I am also mad at drivers who do not know how to drive their cars forward without ruining my lawn. Every spring I go through the same thing and am considering a sign at the entrance to my driveway: Stay out. This Means You.

This would include your aunt, an admirable person in all other ways, but she drives a car the way she runs a vacuum cleaner. I think it also would include you.

Another think I am mad at is people who do not have historical perspective, by which I mean people who talk about each new problem that comes up as if no one had ever talked about it before. It strikes me that a lot of our good friends and citizens are doing this in the case of Russia. They act as if this were the first time a bunch of people ever had the idea of mowing down the opposition.

The harder someone tries to mow down the opposition, the harder the opposition is to mow down. History proves that it's like the old saw that whenever somebody thinks up an insurmountable weapon someone else is sure to think up a defense. This has been going on for a long time and I will crawl out on a limb right now and say the prediction that someone eventually will think up a defense against even the atom bomb. It's a matter of time.

The only way to mow down the opposition is to catch it napping, the way the United States got caught at Pearl Harbor. Afterward, when we were wide awake we blew the ears off the Japs in the Battle of Midway, using what we already had in our arsenal. Then later, having developed the atomic bomb, we finished the war. We caught the Japs napping.

The Russians are scaring the daylights out of everybody with their pushing, and the world is working 24 hours a day trying to think up ways to push back.

If you'll give me a century's leeway to make my prediction look good I'll lay you 10 gallons of maple syrup against a glass of water that the turning point in Russia's rise to power will be dated this year—the year when everybody woke up to what was going on and began to make alliances of opposition against the Soviet Union. I can't think of anything more to be mad about at this time so I'll close. Give my regards to the family. Come to see us soon.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 16—Stocks generally shifted to lower territory in today's market although liquidation was relatively light.

Dealings slowed after a fairly active start. Declines of fractions to a point or so predominated near midday.

Critical international situations again received the principal blame for speculative and investment apathy.

Coal mining and packing house labor disputes accentuated bearish sentiment. Record peacetime earnings by important companies still were pretty well ignored.

In the retreating division most of the time were Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Chesapeake & Ohio, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Studebaker, Montgomery Ward, Kennecott, American Smelting, Union Carbide, American Tobacco "B" and Boeing. A number of pivotals did nothing either way.

Mystery Girl Sought In Seaman's Death

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 16—Authorities still are seeking the girl seen with Seaman Charles N. Holler, 17, of Newark, shortly before his body was found March 6. Police secured a continuance of the Holler inquest yesterday to March 22 to permit a search for her.

Jackie R. Norton, 19, Detroit, a seaman stationed with Holler at Great Lakes, testified Holler, two other sailors and a girl known as "Gloria" were together 20 minutes before Holler's body was found.

Police first believed Holler fell into an areaway from a balcony on the United Artists theater, Dearborn and Randolph streets. Later, they said the body was found 25 feet from where it would have landed if Holler plunged from the balcony.

Columbus Bans Smoking In Downtown Stores

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, March 16—Some Columbus women probably will notice a great drop in their cigaret consumption after April 13.

That's the date the smoking ban goes into effect in downtown department stores. City council passed it last night.

The measure passed was a watered down version of two others proposed earlier by the fire department. It had the backing of the retail merchants and the Ohio hotel associations, but met some stiff opposition from councilman Walter R. Snider.

Snider warned that the public probably would have some mighty nasty things to say about the anti-fag ordinance and he complained that no one was to be responsible for placing "no smoking" signs in the buildings and elevators involved.

Expect To Pass Local Option Rent Control

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16—Republicans lined up to ram through the house today a "local option" rent control bill.

Assailed by Democratic opponents as a control measure "in name only" the bill would take the power to raise rents or lift ceilings away from Washington and give it to local boards nominated by the governors.

Republicans contended that local problems are better understood by people in the various localities, and they can best handle tenant-landlord problems.

Foes of the bill claimed some boards are "stacked" with real estate operators.

Rep. Monroney (D-Okla) called for a vote on a move to strike out the "local option" provision and retain some form of veto power in the hands of the federal rent administrator.

The house expects to pass the bill before nightfall.

It would extend modified rent controls to April 1, 1949.

AGRICULTURE SLASH URGED

Budget Cut Recommendation Made Today by House Committee.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16—A 4.2 per cent cut in the Agriculture department's $634,332,480 budget for next year was urged today by the House Appropriations committee.

But besides approving $543,421,453 in new cash for the department, the committee recommended $65,000,000 for the school lunch program and $400,000,000 in loan authority for the Rural Electrification administration.

The cash outlay includes $130,000,000 to pay farmers for soil conservation practices this year under the AAA program. The bill also promises a $225,000,000 appropriation for this purpose next year to cover the 1949 crop year.

Up for Debate This Week

The $543,421,453 total okayed by the committee is $89,105,198 below the amount the department was given for the present year. While the cash approved is actually $91,911,027 less than President Truman's proposed budget for the department, $65,000,000 of the cut is a paper transaction. The bill will come before the house for debate late this week.

The deepest actual cut made by the committee was in funds asked for production and subsistence loans handled by the Farmers' Home administration. The President sought $75,000,000; the committee approved $60,000,000. The committee turned down a request to add $4,000,000 to Federal funds for aiding states in their agricultural extension programs. It granted in full the $15,000,000 requested for loans to help tenant farmers buy and improve rented land.

More Than Requested

And the $400,000,000 loan authority approved for the Rural Electrification administration is $100,000,000 more than the President asked and $175,000,000 more than REA was given this year. The committee said farm import duties next year are estimated at $135,000,000. After earmarking $65,000,000 of this for the school lunch program, it ordered the remaining $70,000,000 used to promote consumption of agricultural commodities.

The committee added $6,000,000 to the President's request for $38,000,000 for soil conservation operations managed by the department itself. This is in addition to the $225,000,000 authorized in payments to farmers for following conservation practices under the triple A program.

Rep. Cassel Outlines Ways of Assembly

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, March 16—Frederick K. Cassel of Carey, O., attorney and Wyandot county representative to the general assembly, when a guest speaker at the annual Communion breakfast meeting of the Knights of Columbus at St. Peter's parish hall here, outlined the workings of the assembly.

He said there were 852 bills introduced during the last session. Of this total 248 were passed, five were vetoed and two were passed over the vetoes. A bill introduced into the house, said the speaker, goes first to the reference committee, which decides what committee shall receive the measure for consideration. Bills having committee approval after hearings are returned to the floor or a vote.

The body may then pass, defeat, table, amend, or refer the bill back to the committee. If passed it is sent to the senate where the same procedure is followed. If finally approved by both houses the bill then goes to the governor who may sign it, veto it or ignore it. An ignored bill becomes law in 90 days.

State Acquires Farm For Tree Nursery

By The United Press

TIFFIN, O., March 16 — The state forestry department today announced it will take possession of the 80-acre Dewey Hessick farm near Green Springs on April 1.

The state will establish a nursery on the farm to provide an eventual annual output of 5,000,000 trees.

Acquisition of the farm is expected to encourage more forest and windbreak plantings, forester O. A. Alderman said.

STRIKES

in Jefferson county were producing coal.

The state's utilities appeared to be in good shape. Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. and Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. both reported a two months' supply. The Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co., serving a big section of central Ohio, said it had a 90-day stockpile.

Some industries were not as fortunate. Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., for example, reported enough Coal on hand to last a week or more. It was watching its by-products coke ovens closely. They must be kept hot at all times or suffer damage.

About 38,000,000 tons of coal were produced in Ohio last year.

Steel Expected To Be First Industry Hit

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 16—Steel enterprises probably will be the first industry to feel the effects of the soft coal walkout.

There is a possibility that some mills may have to curtail production within 10 days. Others are in a position to operate normally for several weeks.

R. E. Howe, president of Appalachian Coals, Inc., estimated at Cincinnati there was an average of about 34 days' coal for industry purposes on hand. Appalachian, Howe said, is agent for 50 coal producers and sells 40,000,000 tons of high volatile fuel annually.

Action by Truman Is Predicted

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 16—A high government official said today that President Truman will deal "just as firmly" with the spreading new coal strike as he did in his legal battle with John L. Lewis a year ago.

The official said the current walkout "will be a little harder to get at" but warned the critical international situation makes federal intervention imperative.

U. S. Steel indicated that it may have to cut production vital both to American security and European recovery if the strike lasts 10 days.

Democratic Policy Pro-Red, Says Taft

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Me., March 16 — The Democratic administration's foreign policy is pro-Communist, says Senator Robert A. Taft.

It has been, the Republican presidential candidate told 1,800 Portlanders last night, since the days of Henry Wallace, the late Harry Hopkins and others who surrounded the late President Roosevelt.

By "its friendship for Communism," the Ohioan added, the administration, both under Roosevelt and President Truman, "strengthened Russia until today we find the Russians menacing the entire world."

Taft entrained for Washington after his speech, ending what he called "an interesting and exciting two days" campaigning in Maine.

A light plane, carrying him to Old Town, crash landed on the ice of the Kennebec river at Vassalboro yesterday.

Mansfield Radio Station Approved

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 16—Unity Corporation, Inc., has been awarded a permit for an FM broadcasting station at Mansfield, O., over the opposition of the Mansfield News-Journal.

The communications commission approval yesterday is subject to final approval of technical details and possible objections by Canadian authorities over channel interference.

Edward Lamb of Toledo, who has a number of newspaper and radio interests, heads Unity, which also received an FM permit for Springfield. The News-Journal filed formal opposition to Unity's application at Mansfield, and to an FM construction permit issued previously to Richland Incorporation at Mansfield.

Qualifications of the applicants was challenged by the newspaper. It also questioned the manner in which the commission considered three competitive applications separately instead of in a consolidated hearing.

In announcing the Unity grant, the FCC revealed it was denying the News-Journal's petition for Standard and FM permits. The agency is scheduled to hear oral arguments on the News-Journal's plea for reconsideration of the denial of its application, but no date has been set.

850 WATCH 26 BOUTS IN 1st NIGHT OF GOLDEN GLOVES

Every Style of Boxing In Book Shown by Youngsters

By BILL MURPHY

First fights in the fifth annual A A U. Golden Gloves tournament were punched out last night at the Armory. And what fights they were!

Eight hundred and fifty cheering fans crowded into an 800-capacity arena to watch 26 vari-styled boxing bouts. There may have been room for a couple more light followers, small ones, but if there was, the space wasn't apparent.

A friendly group of spectators saw every style of boxing in the book, and some that aren't in the book. Some unorthodox creations, natural enough to amateur fights, added a little humor to the program, but most of the exhibitions given were by classy, well trained amateurs.

Fights Wednesday, Friday

The bouts will resume Wednesday night at the Armory, and the finals will be fought there Friday night.

Nine knockouts and three technical knockouts were scored by the pummel boys. Marion ringmen won six of the ko's and one of the tko's.

Has Rough Time

Ernie Arcuri, middleweighting his way through the first round of fights, had a rough time with Kenny Jones, 161 pounder from Galion for two rounds, as both fighters refused to give an inch, and stood toe to toe and slugged. In the final round Arcuri opened a cut below Jones' right eye and was still coming on strong, as Jones tired, to take the bout on a decision.

Jim Long was the gamest fighter at the Armory. Fighting in the welterweight class, matched with Harold Waite, and taking a terrific beating as Waite pounded him with everything he had, Long stood up under the punishment and came back for more. He showed remarkable courage, and received a big round of applause from the crowd when Referee Wagner stopped the fight.

Hardest Puncher

The hardest punching fighter at the Armory, in comparison to size, was Billy Hunt, 58 pound paperweight. Matched with William Phelps, 59, both of Marion, young Billy uncorked a right to the chin

ST. MARY'S big annual shindig and athletic banquet comes up Wednesday night—St Patrick's day—and 18 high school athletes will be honored then for their great performances this season in football and basketball . . . Seven of the Irish will receive letters in both football and basketball—John Baldauf, Dick Schuler, Joe Maniaci, Jim Moloney, Dan Smith, Don Stuper and Bob Cusick . . . Dick Drake will get a letter for the cage sports and John Granger, Dick Werley, Tom Wagner, Ed Murphy, Kevin Knigbaum, Paul Cusick, Ed Moloney, Bill Merchant, Nick Maniaci, and Jim MacDonald will get football letters.

IF THE ST. PATRICK celebration Wednesday is the biggest and best in the school's history, then it will match the record the Irish turned out this year in the two sports . . . The Irish won the Mid-State league championship in football and were co-champions of the league in basketball, sharing the top spot with Marysville, the only league team that beat them . . . They later avenged this loss with an overtime victory over the Monarchs . . . In football, the Irish went through the loop schedule with a perfect record . . . They ended the cage season with 20 wins and five losses . . . On the gridiron they won seven and lost but two—one of the losses by a single point.

EVEN THE IRISH graders were favored by fortune this season . . . They won the city touch football championship and clinched the cage title, though they still have a game to play in the Gra-Y league. They'll be honored at a later banquet.

TICKETS to the affair are on sale at Markert and Lewis, Vance Sporting Goods Store, and the Fahey bank . . . After the banquet at Harding Hotel, there will be a dance.

Howard Fox on Mound Today for Cincinnati

By The Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla., March 16 — Johnny Neun picked Howard Fox, who won 19 last year for Syracuse, to take the mound today for the first five innings against the Washington Senators.

Kent Peterson, a six game winner for the Reds last year, was named for the final four innings in the Red's seventh outing in Grapefruit league play.

The Reds outhit Boston 10 to 9 yesterday, but the Braves hit where it hurt and came out winners, 4 to 3. It was the Red's fourth loss.

Cincinnati may be short the services of right fielder Frankie Baumholtz today. Baumholtz cut a leg sliding into third base and was unable to finish against Boston.

Virgil Stallcup, the Reds outstanding rookie shortstop, drew favorable comment from scouts. Hank Debarry of the Giants said, "The kid plays short like a guy sitting in a rocking chair. He makes every play look easy."

White Sox Scout Patsy O'Rourke said, "Stallcup is the best-looking rookie shortstop I have lamped in 20 years, wish we had him."

Fritz Crisler Resigns as Michigan Football Coach

Will Remain As Athletic Director; Names Benny Oosterbaan Successor

By The Associated Press

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 16—H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, who guided Michigan to the apex of football glory, today ended his coaching career.

Even as he announced his retirement from the football bench, the handsome, greying, 49-year-old mentor named as his immediate successor Benny G. Oosterbaan, his backfield assistant.

FRITZ CRISLER

Crisler will remain the university's athletic director.

He startled the sports world with his announcement shortly before midnight, attributing his decision to "the exacting demands" of his position as head of the department of physical education, athletic director and head football coach.

The Michigan coach discounted the suddenness of the announcement by saying he had been considering the move "for some time."

His withdrawal as head coach and the appointment of Oosterbaan was discussed and approved, he said, by the Michigan athletic board in control just prior to his announcement.

The shrewd and canny chief stepped down in the year of his greatest triumph.

His 1947 squad rolled over nine opponents like no Michigan club had been able to do since the point-a-minute combine of the early 1900's.

After an undefeated season, his third in 17 years of major collegiate coaching, Crisler took his powerhouse out west and inflicted one of the most stunning defeats in Rose Bowl history on a hapless University of Southern California squad.

The 49 to 0 score duplicated Michigan's 1902 venture against Stanford that originated the famous Bowl series.

Erring Matadors Answer in Court For Shortcomings

By The United Press

CARACAS, VENEZUELA, March 16 — American baseball players, subjected to mild booing when they commit error, should be thankful today they're not bull fighters.

Two matadors were taken to the police court here yesterday and were charged with "disastrous performances that can be construed as robbing the fans of their money."

Manolo Escudero was the first to appear before the court. He was accused of chopping off the horns of a bull he was to fight in order to avoid being gored. Found guilty, Escudero was taxed 500 bolivares, about $120 in American money.

Another matador, Agustin Parrita, was accused of "not going to the bull," "avoiding the enemy," and "cowardice." But Parrita had a sound alibi.

"The bull was not actually a bull, but a son of a dog," Parrita told the court. The judges, after a short debate, agreed with the matador and freed him.

The Columbus Globetravellers defeated the Vet All Stars, 34-20 at the Marion Armory Sunday afternoon. In two other games, the Caledonia Merchants took Commercial Steel, 41-29, and Pollak Steel won over the Harding Indepndents, 34-27.

The professional all-Negro Globetravellers put on a clowning act at the end of their game with the All Stars that sent a packed house away laughing.

The games were sponsored by the City Vet league to raise money for the league treasury.

Double-Main Features Thursday's Mat Card

A double-main event has been booked for this week's wrestling matches at the Armory Thursday night.

A couple of roughneck Irishmen—Jack Kelly and Red Lyons—will grapple in the first of the 90-minute, two-out-of-three fall matches, and Dale Murray will meet newcomer Bill Sledge in the second. The latter match, said promoter Les Fishbaugh, will be a clean, fast battle.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton jr.

By The Associated Press

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 16—Ben Chapman, who comes close to being the most quotable manager in baseball, is a firm adherent to Hero Pennock's theory that a pitcher's greatest handicap is "fear of the bat." . . . The Phillies' pilot was holding forth on that subject yesterday and using Del Ennis, who was taking batting practice, as an example . . . "All a pitcher has to go is to get it in there and he has the advantage," Ben argued. "A good hitter bats about .333. That's one base hit out of every three times he hits one—and yet those pitchers keep trying to miss the plate . . . Whew, look at that one" . . . Ennis had poled a long drive over the fence, but his next one was a dribbler to the infield . . . "You see," Ben continued, "He hit six; one was a home run; one you could call a baseball; the other four were outs. That's why I tell my pitchers never to be afraid of the batters . . . Still, last year before I'd go to bed, I would pick my starter—and then I'd have to pick three relief pitchers."

BABE RUTH, who is touring the training camps and cutting up a few touches with old friends, was lunching with Phillies' officials yesterday when someone suggested that the Babe should start hitting 'em now, when the ball is livelier than ever . . . "Livelier ball," growled Ruth. "Why, I hit some just as far back in 1913 as I did when I was at my peak."

Fourth-seeded St. Louis crossed up the tourney officials by expelling No 1 ranked Western Kentucky last night, 60-53, in a hard-fought game. NYU, playing without the services of star guard Dick Forman, out-scrapped and scrapped DePaul of Chicago, 72-59.

Miss Sutter and Mr. Mueller presented harp and flute numbers following the first and second groups of songs by the chorus. For the second and third groups by the chorus, which included compositions by DeRose, Campbell-Tipton, Del Riego, Novello, Youmans and Wright and Forest, the chorus members appeared in colorful spring formals. Following the final group, the encore numbers presented were an arrangement in popular "radio tradition" of "Three Blind Mice," and an Hungarian round.

Members of the Junior Lecture-Recital club who acted as ushers were Roxana Pauling, Janet Way and Elaine Everett. Edison school students, Robert Stanley and Forrest Durham, were in charge of curtains and lighting respectively.

The concert closes the season for the chorus with exception of a social meeting for the members which will be a party Thursday night at Republican headquarters hall which is the place used regularly for chorus rehearsals.

of young William after one minute of the first round and stretched his full length on the canvas and Billy took the fight on a ko.

Joe Neidig, 135, of Byhalia cancelled Neil Boyle, 132, of Bucyrus after 1:36 of the first round. Neidig appeared to be all that everybody expected him to be, and promises to furnish a good fight or two before the tournament ends. He pumped damaging blows to the midsection of Boyle for the first minute of the bout, and then, when he had Boyle straightened up on the ropes, tagged him with a stinging left and followed with the coup de grace, about an eight inch punch that put Boyle down for the count.

Bob Kraner, assistant publicity chairman, handled the loud speaker last night, and introduced the fighters. Judges were Ray Smallwood, Harry Cahill and Ike Jones. Referees were Jack Lewis, Doc. Wagner, Jimmy Williams and Leslie Whiteman. Louis Conkle, Leonard Beachtel and William Luse were timers. Paul Loveland, Y's Men's club member, took pictures of the action.

MRS. CAROLINE URIE
Refuses to pay tax for war

Woman Pacifist Takes War's Share From Income Tax

By The Associated Press

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., March 16—Mrs. Caroline Urie is a pacifist. So she paid only 65.4 per cent of her 1947 federal income tax yesterday.

Mrs. Urie, white-haired widow of a career Navy officer, figures the rest of her tax was earmarked for military expenses.

"As a Christian, I must henceforth refuse to contribute in any way to maintaining the institution of war," she wrote President Truman and the internal revenue department.

Besides, she added, the atom bomb makes war a "final criminal absurdity."

Mrs. Urie didn't keep the 34.6 per cent "war tax." She sent the money to four pacifist organizations (every one of them nonprofit) and enclosed her contribution receipts with the tax return.

"If they want to send me to jail because I won't pay the other 34.6 per cent, that's all right with me," she said. "I'm perfectly willing to go to jail. I'll never pay any more money for war."

Mrs. Urie describes herself as "a Quaker, a pacifist, a social worker and a white-haired widow—a very aged widow, at that." Arthritis keeps her in bed most of the time now, but years ago she was an associate of Jane Addams in Chicago's famed Hull House.

Mrs. Urie has nothing against paying taxes "for any reasonable constructive purpose—like schools, police protection, etc." She thinks higher federal taxes might be wise to reduce the national debt.

Businessmen Organize New Group at Waldo

A meeting of the business men of Waldo was held Friday night in the town hall for the purpose of organizing a Business Men's club. Twenty-four representative business men were present.

Officers were elected with Leo L. Newell chosen president; Robert Michels, vice president, and Robert Rice, secretary and treasurer.

Two committees were named by the newly elected president, Mr. Newell. Named to serve on a committee to select a name for the organization were Lowell Gompf, Robert Williams and Louis Klingle, and appointed on a by-laws committee were Ralph Gabler, Tilton Richardson and Ray Burnoskey.

A special meeting is to be held this week with the county commissioners to determine action on the closing of county roads because of the Delaware dam project.

Marion Auxiliary To Letter Carriers Meets

Mrs. Alberta Klingel was welcomed as a new member when Ladies' Auxiliary No. 481 to the Marion branch of the National Association of Letter Carriers met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Louise Merchant on West Walnut street. An auction sale was held, with Mrs. Jean Duffy as auctioneer. Contest winner was Mrs. Alberta Kilbury, and a special prize went to Mrs. Gene Fall. Lunch in keeping with St. Patrick's day was served. The spring meeting will be held Thursday, April 15, at Ringer's inn. It was announced that members who were absent at the last meeting are to call Mrs. Hachten before the spring meeting.

Marion Represented At Cancer Meeting

Members of the Marion County Chapter of the American Cancer Society attended a forum meeting of the Ohio division of the society Sunday at Columbus. Speakers included John Ebright, vice chairman of the board of trustees, who reviewed the work of the society since its organization three years ago, and L. E. Herget, director of the state group. Mr. Herget reported 75 counties in the state organized and gave the Ohio goal as $960,000.

Mrs. J. M. Strelitz, commander of the local chapter, reported 360 workers organized for the house-to-house canvass to be held in April. Mrs. Frederick T. Merchant and Mrs. W. A. Dennis are co-chairman for the drive. Paul Bachman reported on pre-campaign plans here.

Crestline Woman, 94, Has Birthday Party

CRESTLINE, March 16 — Mrs. Margaret Frye, widow of Martin Frye, observed her ninety-fourth birthday anniversary Sunday at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Frye, where she has been residing.

Mrs. Frye is Crestline's oldest woman. She has lived here most of her life, though she spent some time in Shelby Settlement. A fracture of a hip has kept her bedfast. Yet she is very cheerful and her physical condition is good. She has three children: C. J. Frye, Mrs. Thomas Shea of Columbus and Sister Mary Benedicta. She has 12 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Saturday Sister Mary Benedicta and Sister Bernadette of Mercy hospital spent the day with Mrs. Frye. Sunday a group of relatives and friends gathered at the Frye home for a birthday dinner. Columbus, Shelby and New Washington guests were present.

LOSER IN ARSON CASE DENIED NEW TRIAL

By The Associated Press

BUCYRUS, March 16—Motion for a new trial was denied by Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl here today in the arson case of the state against Andrew Leroy Noggle. Noggle was convicted by a jury Feb. 26 of setting fire to his empty home north of here in an effort to collect $1,800 insurance.

The defendant was sentenced to an indeterminate period in the Ohio penitentiary but execution of sentence was deferred pending action of the appellate court where the case was carried for further consideration.

In Plain Words By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

IF THERE'S a headache, we have it here in the United States. Any kind of headache.

Headaches are part of the cost of living in a democracy. We have to sweat through all of them. And in a democracy all sides have their say, which sometimes makes the headaches worse while they last.

Right now we have some huge headaches, huge problems without easy answers. And there's a lot of disagreement about them.

James Marlow

Let's take them one at a time.

1. Russia is a big headache—probably the biggest we have. The Russians have grabbed almost all the states of eastern Europe. We want to stop them from grabbing any more. How do we do it?

Right now we're getting ready to try the Marshall plan to help the 16 nations of Western Europe. We hope it will keep them away from the Communists. Will it work? No one knows.

2. Greece is fighting Communists. Turkey is threatened by Russia.

We're doing something there. We're giving military help to both of those countries. How much will it take? No one knows. Can we stop Russia that way? No one is sure.

3. There also is a Communist—which means Russian—problem in China. There, Chiang Kai-shek's forces are fighting Communist armies. What do we do about it?

WE'VE GIVEN CHIANG loans. We've let him buy some military goods here. We've sold him some airplanes. So far it hasn't stopped the Communists. Now some people are urging full-scale military aid.

Those are the foreign headaches. We have headaches at home, too. And some of them are connected with our foreign problems. Let's look at them.

1. Prices are high. Will they go higher? Maybe. Nobody is sure. Will we have a depression. Nobody knows.

If we do, our foreign program would fall apart. We wouldn't have money to help stop the Russians from taking over in other countries. Well, what do we do about it? Your answer is as good as anyone else's.

2. We're heading into a hot political campaign. President Truman's leadership is being hit from three sides:

BY HENRY WALLACE—who dislikes Mr. Truman's foreign policy; by southern Democrats—who dislike his proposals to give Negroes greater rights; by Republicans—who say they can do things better.

The Russians probably are counting on election-year confusion here to help them push into western Europe. But that's where they might be wrong.

We've had elections before in times of emergency without that kind of confusion.

Those are just a few of the headaches.

As above, there's a lot of disagreement about what kind of pills it will take to fix them. But that's part of the cost of living in a democracy.

MARION MAN SERVES ON ROTARY COMMITTEE

Three members of the Marion Rotary club, President Frank M. Foster, Past President Henry A. Mickley and Secretary-Treasurer Donald E. Sloan, accompanied by their wives, attended a two-day annual conference of the 157th District of Rotary International held Sunday and Monday in Lima.

Mr. Foster served during the sessions as a member of the resolutions committee.

Headquarters for the conference were at the Argonne Hotel, but most sessions were held at the Lima Central Junior High school auditorium.

Burton Ohlemacher, Elyria manufacturer, was elected governor of the 157th district at the concluding session of the conference yesterday. He will succeed Robert C. Remy of Mansfield. More than 1,000 Rotarians and their wives attended the sessions.

Speaker at the Rotary governor's banquet was H. V. Kaltenborn, news analyst of the NBC network. His subject was "We Look at the World." About 350 persons were present.

CONCERT ARTISTS LISTED

60 YOUNG PEOPLE IN RELIGIOUS DRAMA

Program To Be Made Annual Event by Churches.

More than 60 young people, the majority of whom were high school pupils, participated in the first religious drama festival sponsored in Marion by the youth department of the Marion County Council of Churches, Marion Christian Youth movement, Sunday. Two divisions of the festival were held afternoon and evening, in the downstairs auditorium of First Presbyterian church. Approximately 500 persons witnessed the performances. Evaluation of the dramas was made by Prof. Don Eyssen of the speech department of Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware. Plays were presented by groups from six churches.

Results of the festival as a whole, in experienced to those who participated and in audience appreciation, were summed up by a member of the adult advisory committee as "altogether gratifying" and it was stated that the project will probably be continued as an annual affair.

Planned by Young People

Stressed especially was the fact that the young people "planned the whole thing," and that it gave them an opportunity to "show what they could do, and to reveal that they are "truly deeply devotional." Prof. Eyssen spoke of opportunities for betterment of the field of religious drama, giving constructive criticism, and listing points to keep in mind for future productions. He urged churches to take more interest in dramatic presentations of religious subject matter.

Two plays were presented in the afternoon "Questions in the Temple," by Rice, with the setting in Jerusalem, at the time of the "Passover when Jesus was 12 years old," was given by cast of 10 from Trinity Baptist church. "The Challenge of the Cross" by Marsh, included a cast of "six disciples" and an "evangel" presented by a group from First Evangelical and Reformed church.

First evening presentation was "Smoke," by Wilson, with a modern scene set in a third floor flat living room in a city factory district," played by a group of eight of First Presbyterian church. "Love's Utmost," by Glover, placed in "a humble home in Jerusalem on a day during the latter part of Jesus earthly life," was enacted by a cast of five of Wesley Methodist church.

Missionary Play

A Missionary play, "BaThane," by Baldwin, with the setting a "living room of the missionary's home" in a "village . . . in Upper Burma," was portrayed by seven players of Epworth Methodist church.

Closing production was "Joseph of Arimathea," by Wilson, in three scenes, "after the trail of Jesus before the Sanhedrin . . . . following the crucifixion . . . . morning of the resurrection," in a room of the home of Joseph, was presented by a group of nine from Salem Evangelical and Reformed church.

The M.C.Y.M. committee for the festival included Misses Arlue Detrick, Virginia Howard and Alla Lee Robinson, and William Hollaway. Play directors were Cecil Brown, Miss Florence Hayman, Miss Robinson, Miss Jean Latimore, Bernard Lyon and Miss Howard. The adult advisors for the festival were Misses Marian Conley and Margaret Huffman and Marion Chase.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

A Stubborn Disorder To Cure

One of the most annoying and uncomfortable of disorders is pruritus ani, or itching around the opening of the lower bowel. In many cases, it is also one of the most difficult to get rid of. Of course, its duration will largely depend upon the cause in the individual case, as well as the kind of treatment given. Where it is simply a matter of improper hygiene, proper cleanliness will result in the disappearance of symptoms.

Other types of cases present more of a problem, as, for instance, those which are due to allergy or over-sensitivity, to some food or beverage. If the food to which the patient is sensitive can be discovered, the only problem which remains is control of the appetite. Once offending items are eliminated from the diet, the trouble will clear up.

In certain cases, the use of alcoholic beverages may be a responsible factor in this type of case. Then, too, a few persons may be sensitive to some article of clothing or to some medication which has been applied to the skin area. Allergy, however, accounts for only about one case in twenty.

It would seem that the most stubborn cases—those where the condition has lasted for a year or more—are largely due to a fungus or yeast-like infection. A careful study of scrapings made from the skin to determine the type of fungus present may be helpful, since the treatment to be used may depend upon the kind of fungus causing the difficulty.

In mild cases of itching in this area, the condition will clear up quickly if the area is washed thoroughly after each bowel movement. X-ray treatments will give relief temporarily or, in some instances, almost permanently. In other cases injection into the skin area of an anesthetic or pain-relieving substance give ease for about a ten-day period.

Alcohol injections in this area may produce a permanent cure but only when they also produce destruction of large areas of the skin. This treatment is quite painful, and, as a rule, the doctor does not consider it advisable.

One treatment which seems to bring permanent relief in severe cases is the cutting of the sensory nerves to this area. This may be done by making incisions through the skin and packing the cut surfaces with a material called oxidized cellulose. This material controls the bleeding and keeps the nerve fibers separated, while the skin itself remains healthy. Good results have been obtained with the use of this treatment.

In the Service

Arthur F. Martin, fireman first class, left here Sunday to return to his ship, U.S.S. Taluga, after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Martin of 376 Quarry street. He was at home 24 days. TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

By AP Newsfeatures

JAMES C. PETRILLO, born March 16, 1892, is one of the most controversial figures in American labor. He is head of the American Federation of Musicians. His recent ban on phonograph records is one of many acts which led to his being called "little Caesar" and "dictator" by his enemies. He sums up his attitude in "My boys gotta eat" and points to broad pay increases he has won for musicians.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Times continue perilous.... Right behind the income tax man comes the milliner.

* * *

And Easter bonnets are not deductible as "business expense" ....An indication that the treasury is not familiar with the facts of domestic life.

* * *

An argument rages in Washington as to whether or not the internal revenue department is efficient....I would suggest examining any taxpayer's pockets.

A photo of two empty whisky bottles in the department files is introduced as evidence of laxity ....It would seem to show thoroughness.

* * *

What other tax collection agency plucks a man down to his last two empty bottles and gets them too?

And if the bottles actually were drained in the department that makes sense too....Why would an internal revenue worker buy alcohol for external use?
